Corporate Membership

The Environmental Health Association (Australia) has recognised the benefits of incorporating industry as an equal partner within its professional association and how such involvement has can bring industry knowledge and experience into conferences, seminars and informational media, not as a sponsor but as an equal partner.

Inviting industry as an equal partner presents an opportunity for industry to present its products to a wider audience and incorporate research and development melded into papers and presentations at conferences and seminars. This opportunity is extended to industry, local, state & federal government agencies, educational institutions, small business and individuals in business to join the EHAA as a Corporate Member. We believe that Corporate Membership of the Association will be seen as a benefit not only to industry and the EHAA but as a benefit to the entire Environmental Health Profession.
